IN THE SOUTH

TALES OF SAIL AND YEARNING

A sailing journey through time and place begins with two wooden boats: the three-masted schooner IleOla, designed by L. Francis Herreshoff, and Bruce Kirby's sharpie ketch Scherzo. From these two float tales of then and now – stories of sail and sea in the Australian south, of design and artistic craftsmanship, teacher-mentors, sprung planks, loss and the rescue of ageing boats.
